This tyrant thinks that it's above the law and walking on top of the world. See how he is dressed for a meeting with the United States Of America's special envoy! He decided to dress like this to show the U.S that he can not be ; tossed around at least that's what in his narrow mind thought.

The U.S was simply advising him on the importance of free and fair election, but the dictator had already made up is mind on the U.s accusing it of meddling in his business. I can only remind you that once the late Idi Amin was like that to the British and we all know his fate.

Today he can dress like a thug before dignitaries, tomorrow he will be in orange with no choice

Help is on the way
