

Ugandans to the Rescue

February 10, 2010

By Mansa Musa

As elections near media freedom sees decline in Uganda: Museveni is determined to rig the 2011 Uganda presidential elections once again for the third time. This dictator's determination has emboldened him to mock democracy in Uganda for over quarter century, without fear of repercussion. Today Uganda is both a police and military police where citizens' rights have been violated by both institutions which constitutionally are supposed to protect and defend them. We here at UTR always want to back up our reporting with the view of other international bodies, please click on the link below.
